

frankly human

Issue 1

FREE Workbook

WORK LIFE JUGGLE

Understand the baggage around work-life balance and the stories we all share about trying to make it all work

BOUNDARIES HARD TO SEE

Five tips to see, name and share your boundaries to support your life

BALANCE YOUR WAY

Release the everyday tension with three key ways to work with your boundaries

CONTENTS

03

A Balance
Philosophy

07

How much Work is Enough?

09

What Are Boundaries?

16

Design your Balance

05

The Golden Rules of Balance

08

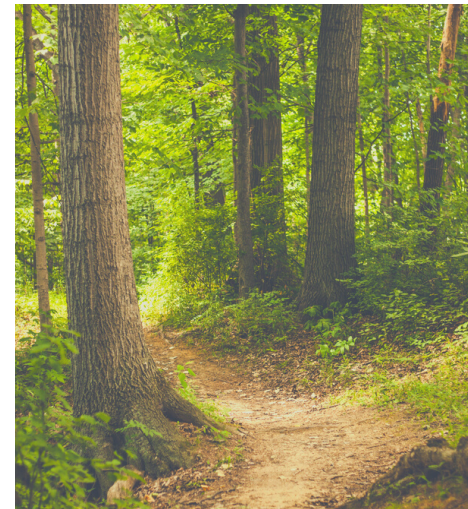

Busting Myths about
Balance

13

Building Boundaries

18

Tell me more

Prepared by Jacinta McMahon

PRODUCT DISCLAIMER

The information provided in this guide is provided on an “as is” and “as available” basis. Thus, all purchasers and/or readers of any expressly agree that their use or interpretation is done so at their sole and exclusive risk. It is provided only to promote healthy lifestyle habits. It is not intended as medical advice, and should not be used to diagnose, treat, cure or prevent any medical conditions. You should not use this guide as a substitute for qualified professional health advice, diagnosis or treatment.

Neither Jacinta McMahon of Frankly Human nor their affiliates, licensors, suppliers or distributors will be held liable for indirect, incidental, special, consequential, or exemplary damages resulting from the use of the information or services provided.

The information and materials provided in this PDF come from a variety of sources, including the professional experiences of Jacinta McMahon.

Accordingly the information in this program is copyright, 2021 © Jacinta McMahon and Frankly Human and no part of it may in any form by electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording, or any other means be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system or be broadcast, sold or transmitted without the prior permission of the publisher.

A “BALANCE” PHILOSOPHY

A guide to healthy work life balance

Hey! I'm Jacinta, and I'm so happy you are reading this - because it means you're going to improve your overall fulfilment and well-being and start an incredible transformation journey. With this work life balance guide and The Design to Me program you'll be able to achieve greater recognition for your impact at work, less tension and more enjoyment in your personal time without guilt.

In this guide you will find all my top tips and guidelines for how to improve awareness and positioning as part of a long-term healthy work-life strategy. Reflection, clarity and feedback will give you so much more confidence and focus, plus help you keep making great decisions, taking great action and feel great about yourself.

We've even included a few mindfulness techniques and a mindful moment so you can take 2 minutes out of your day to recharge and celebrate the accomplishments you have made.

THRIVING OVER STRIVING

GOLDEN RULES OF BALANCE

#1

BALANCE IS UNIQUE, LIKE YOU

There is no one size fits all version of balance. Your comfort levels and choices in life, work, love or play are all by your own design.

#2

BOUNDARIES MAKE BALANCE

We protect our choices regarding life, work, love and play by setting boundaries and knowing the edges of comfort in these areas of our lives.

#3

BALANCE BY DESIGN

We make choices in every moment. In what we say yes to and what we say no to. You have the choice to see the big picture and design life for happiness.

#4

ART OF NO

A key skill to practice in managing your personal boundaries and definition of balance is how and when to say no respectfully.

#5

HONE YOUR WORK-LIFE RITUALS

Choose activities that honour your preferences with work. Examples might be setting realistic deadlines and delegating when possible.

#6

PROTECT YOUR ENERGY

Getting better quality sleep is one of the best ways to top up your energy. Not putting unrealistic expectations on yourself also helps with emotional exhaustion.

HOW MUCH WORK IS ENOUGH?

It's a new world of work

Productivity does not equal hourly input.

Do not value availability over creativity.

Perception and judgement of your value based on your time constraints are changing and creativity and innovation are more desirable traits.

“Work expands so as to fill the time available for its completion.”

Parkinson's law indicates that we take how much time we assign to complete a task. Working harder does not mean working better! By understanding your time constraints and setting appropriate timelines, you will complete your task in the simplest most efficient manner possible.

Without self care & a healthy perspective, burnout is possible.

When work takes up too much of your time, doesn't utilise your strengths, or when there is a misalignment between what you value and the work you do, you're more likely to experience burnout.

BUSTING MYTHS ABOUT BALANCE

Balance does not exist.

There is no specific amount of any one thing that is definitively “balanced”.

This is not a zero sum game!

We don't actually borrow from one area of life, to give more to another.

You fill up your cups in whatever way you choose. Tipping more into love, does not take from work.

Design balance for yourself...

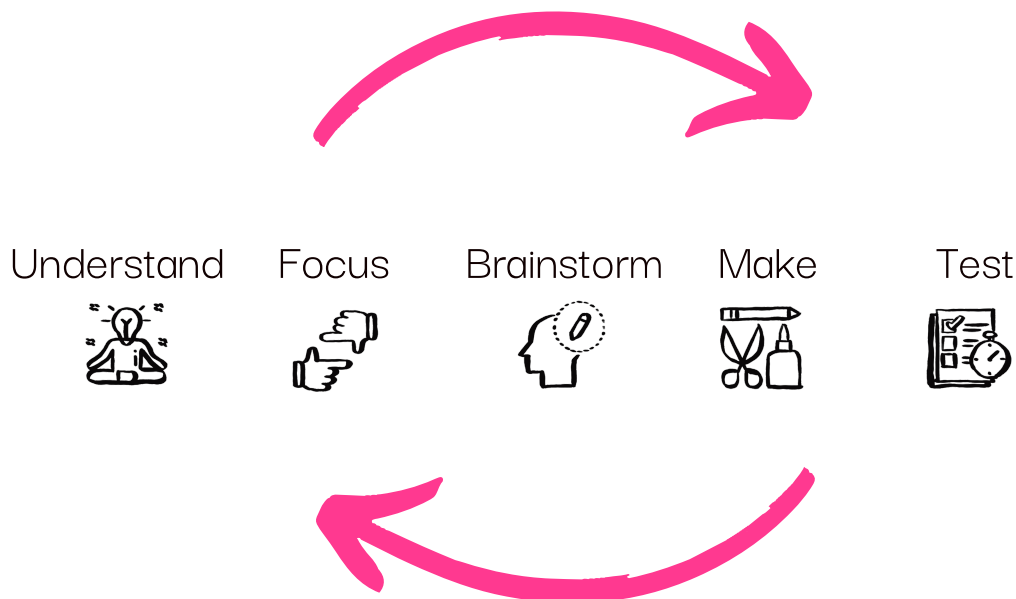

Find your own desired levels of:

- Life
- Work
- Love
- Play

...and begin to articulate your boundaries around these choices.

DESIGNING YOUR LIFE

A simple way to understand what design is to an everyday person is that it's a repeatable process that empowers us to find the right goals to pursue, see the right problems to solve and develop the best solutions to those problems.

The diagram shown is a variation of the design thinking methodology that was developed by Stanford university in the 70s. This is a simple tool to make good things happen and creating valuable solutions for you or your 'customers'.

What kinds of problems or goals could you try a different approach to?

Design breathes fresh perspective and energy to challenges in both life, work and business.

WHAT ARE BOUNDARIES?

Boundaries are things we can't, won't or shouldn't do.

Some boundaries are self-imposed. Some are not self imposed and might be considered constraints. Understanding boundaries and constraints is a healthy and constructive way to live.

Boundaries are a reflection of our personal values and individual priorities.

On the following page is a list of core values. This list is not exhaustive, but it will give you an idea of some common personal values.

VALUES SCAN

Your core values make you who you are, and when you're aligned with them, you feel most yourself. For this reason, your values serve as a key ingredient to a happy and balanced life.

STEP ONE

From the list below highlight the 10 values that resonate for you.

STEP TWO

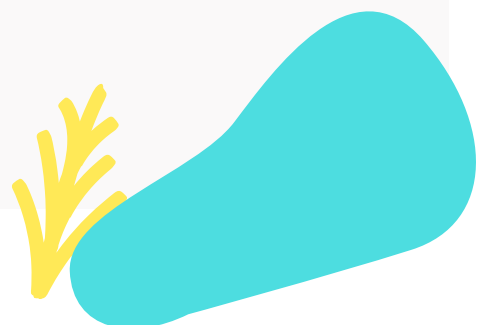

Rank the 10 values in order of importance to understand your different priorities. Use these values to support you in defining your levels of balance and your boundaries.

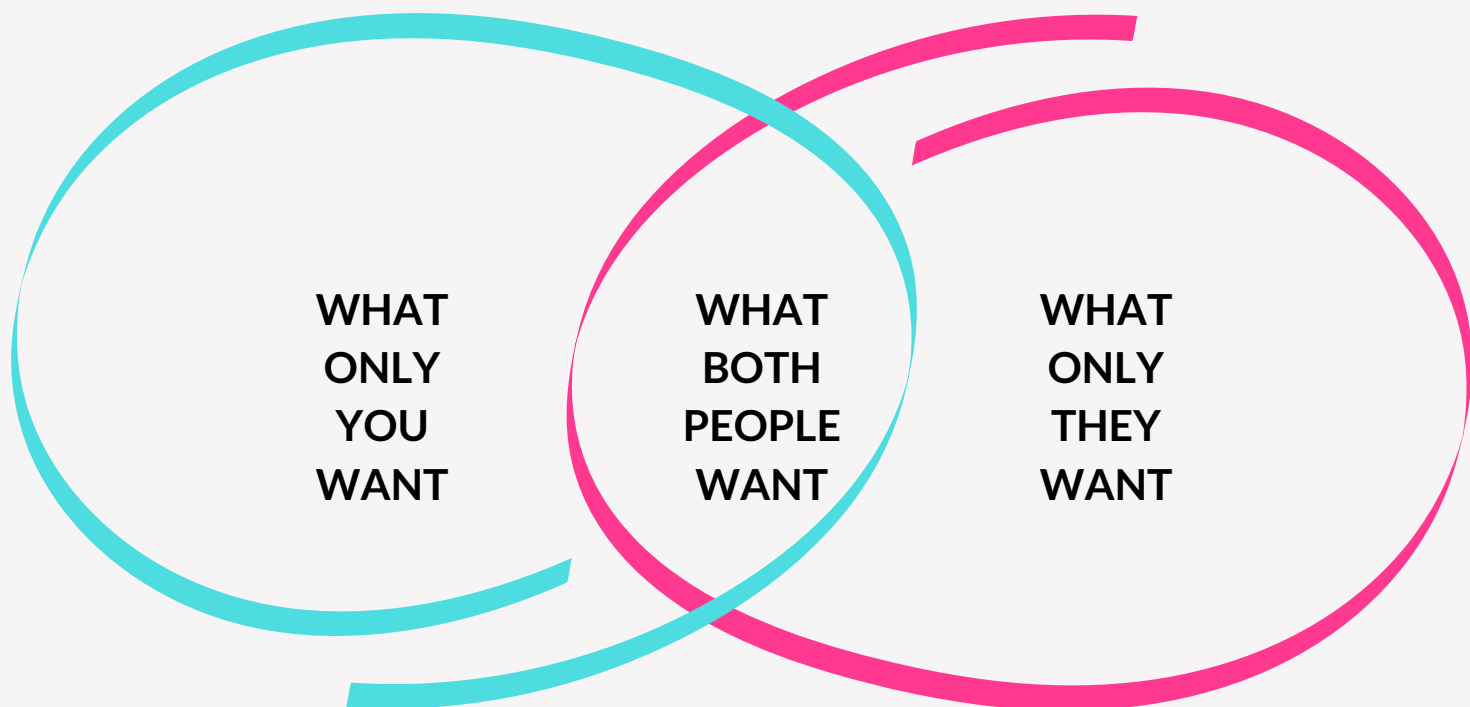

Authenticity	Inner Harmony
Achievement	Justice
Adventure	Kindness
Authority	Knowledge
Autonomy	Leadership
Balance	Learning
Beauty	Love
Boldness	Loyalty
Compassion	Meaningful Work
Challenge	Openness
Citizenship	Optimism
Community	Peace
Competency	Pleasure
Contribution	Poise
Creativity	Popularity
Curiosity	Recognition
Determination	Religion
Discipline	Reputation
Empathy	Respect
Experimentation	Responsibility
Fairness	Security
Faith	Self-Respect
Fame	Service
Friendships	Spirituality
Fun	Stability
Growth	Success
Happiness	Status
Honesty	Trustworthiness
Humour	Wealth
Influence	Wisdom

CHECK OUT our Why Workshop to refine your values and pencil your own purpose statement here.

VALUES SCAN

My top 10 values

HOW THAT MIGHT LOOK FOR YOU...

Your boundaries are yours, and yours alone. It is true that many of your boundaries might align with those who are close to you, but there will always be some that are unique for you.

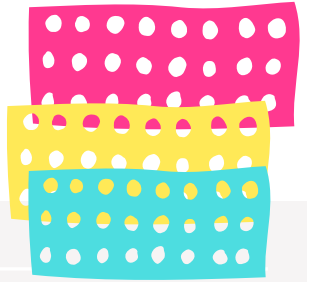

Knowing your boundaries in advance empowers you with confidence to make decisions and take actions that you are most comfortable with.

Bumping on boundaries is a common and uncomfortable way to know things are out of balance. Be kind and clear when you feel this way. Sometimes we live it, to learn it. It's our responsibility to clarify and communicate our needs without ambiguity, if we want to create the balance that we seek in life.

You always have the right to say “no”.

HOW BOUNDARIES MIGHT LOOK FOR YOU...

Things I don't allow...

A large, light gray rectangular area with horizontal white lines for writing.

Things I allow, but don't really like...

A large, light gray rectangular area with horizontal white lines for writing.

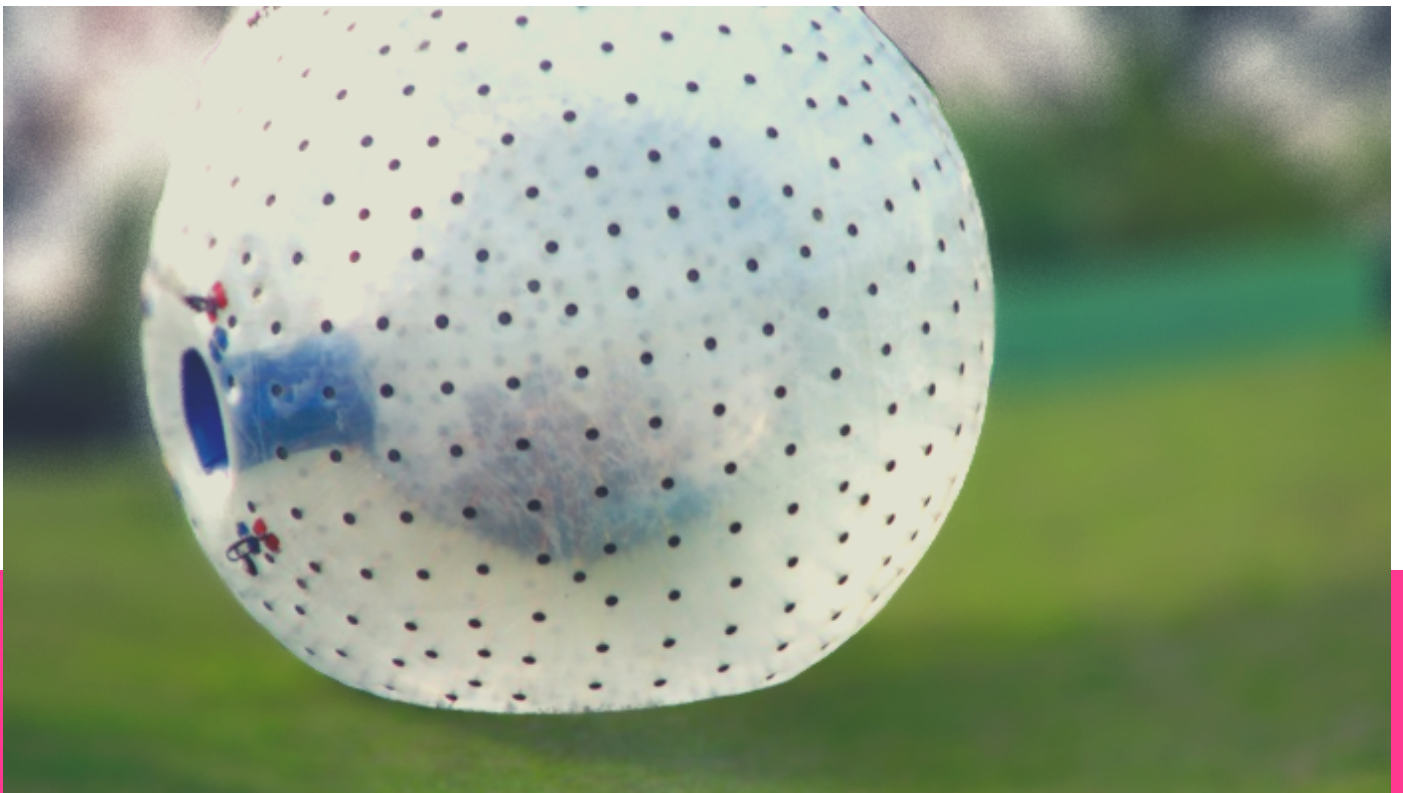

BOUNCING ON BOUNDARIES

Contemplate 3 examples of what you considered to be an overstepping of your personal boundaries:

ONE

TWO

THREE

ARTICULATING YOUR BOUNDARIES

What to say

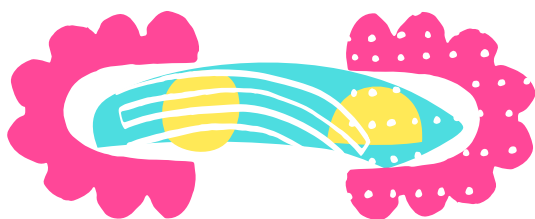

Again, you always have the right to say “no”. When doing so, it is kind to express yourself clearly and without ambiguity so there is no doubt about what you want.

Examples might sound like: “I’m not comfortable with this”, “This doesn’t work for me”, “I don’t want to do that”, “I can’t do that for you.”

What I do

- Use confident body language
- Be respectful
- Plan ahead
- Compromise, when appropriate

CHECK OUT our Why Workshop to refine your values and pencil your own purpose statement here.

REFLECTION

How do you handle situations where your boundaries are violated?

What do you typically do?

What do you normally say?

DESIGN YOUR BALANCE

*In different aspects of your life.
What do you choose to say yes to?
What do you choose to say no to?*

I SAY YES TO...

I SAY NO TO...

Life

Work

Love

Play

A MINDFUL MOMENT

A minute meditation

- Get comfortable in your seat.
- Now listen.
- Coming into stillness, take some moments to scan through your body and see what want to relax and let go a little.
- Take a full, deep in-breath, filling your chest, and a slow out-breath, feeling the sensations of the breath as you release the air out.
- And again a deep in-breath, and a slow out-breath, letting your breath then resume in its natural rhythm.
- Opening to your senses, feeling the breath in the foreground and relaxing with the background of sensations, sounds, feelings, and life.

CLOSING THOUGHTS ON THE JUGGLE

Don't forget what you need

Take some time to think about where your needs sit within the list of things to do. You choose when to prioritise those. Do it. I promise the show will go on.

Be kind to yourself

Don't forget to include your self in the juggle that you're balancing. Caring for yourself and speaking kindly to yourself will give you the fuel to sustain all the things that you do.

Saying No to say Yes to the right things

Practising the art of No is one of the hardest parts. Having a clear view of how your "No" aligns to your own personal values and the opportunities that this makes space for is incredibly empowering. Zoom out, take stock of the different ingredients and confidently choose your No's.

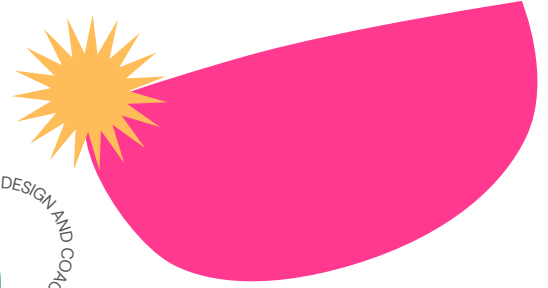

You're the designer of your life

Embrace the fact that you decide the edges of your beautiful life. You define the levels and actions that fill up your cups with life, work, love & play.

Try out new ideas in these areas. Gather feedback from how they play out. There is no failure; rather you can learn and adapt. You can love your life.

EXPERIENCE DESIGN AND COACHING

THANKS!

Thank you for reading this guide! I hope you found it interesting, and I hope it helps you achieve your goals!

Warmest,

Jacinta xx

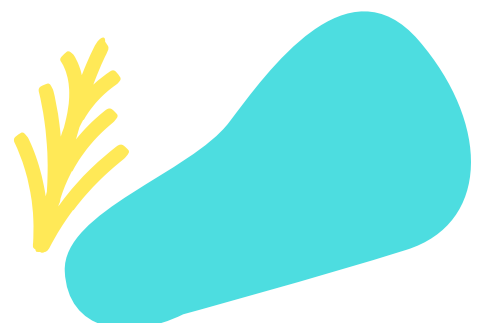

Credits to fabulous materials that inspired this guide from-

PsychPoint.com

Therapistaid.com

MindfulnessExercises.com

Frankly Human Design

About Jac

A story-seeker & teller to create positive change. Proud working mum who loves her work and her family.

Jac has a positive impact on the world through kindness, intelligence, and humanity. With deep passion and expertise in human behaviour.

An educator, coach and experience design professional with 20+ years professional experience, various qualifications in leadership, coaching, mindfulness, business and law. I'm a human who loves working with and helping other humans get great results and enjoy the impact of their efforts.

Jacinta brings ease and fun to the process of creating with human-centred design. Her mission is to make design accessible and empower people to do great things with their knowledge, experience, and skills.

(Com)passionate by design

We are a coaching practice and design consultancy created to bring kindness and creativity to make good things happen.

"Designing solutions should be a joy and that requires vulnerability"

Our values are:

- Purpose
- Presence
- Practice
- Possibility
- Pragmatism, and
- Progress

You can nail the problem and the vision, create solutions, products or services using design thinking, simple research, and emotional agility.

You bring the problem, opportunity or audacious goal. Together, we create solutions that are...

Brave, bold and brilliant!

frankly human

© 2022